Staff Spotlight

Katie Patrick

Katie Patrick is our Director here at Good Shepherd Preschool and has been with our preschool family for almost two years. Katie resides in Lilburn with her husband Michael (an aviation fleet manager) and two children, Eleanor (5) & Benjamin (3). When not at work she enjoys traveling, spending time outdoors, and reading. She is the oldest of three and spends time with both of her sisters in Athens and Atlanta frequently on the weekends.

Before coming to Good Shepherd, Katie taught in both public and private schools with a focus in Pre-k-8th grade after attending UGA. She also has experience with technology instruction and curriculum development. She took a 3 year break to stay home with her children prior to returning to education.

Katie's passion lies in being a small part of a student's educational journey and the blessing of being able to watch them fall in love with school. Katie is happiest surrounded by family and fully caffeinated. If she wasn't in education, you would more than likely find her fishing on some small island immersed in the culture.

Fun Facts: Katie's favorite animal is a hippo and favorite color is purple. If trying to find her on GSP campus: she may be running around, in the classroom, chatting with the CR Team, conducting carpool, meeting with parents, or looking for baked goods from the Women's Bible Study.
